

Fortnum & Mason Windows For All Seasons

The windows at the London shop Fortnum & Mason do more than display merchandise, they're an irresistible invitation to step into a fantasy world, an alluring vision that incites desire and the hunger to possess. People flock to these store windows. Every year there are four displays that change with the seasons, and here are the most inventive and beguiling. Christopher Blackwell, the award-winning display director for over 15 years, lovingly crafts each one himself, and he explains the creative process behind their evolution, from the original inspiration and initial sketches to his eclectic library of imagery and the physical installation. From the baroque Dreaming of Midsummer Nights to a celestial Zodiac, each one is a feast for the eye.
