No matter what language we speak our words have power and meaning. My book was written because there is such a need in our world for positive and encouraging words. I see children every day scorned by their parents and tossed to the side because life has gotten in the way. My book is to bring us back to the reality that we have a responsibility for what comes out of our mouths and how we speak, not only to our children but to the people that cross our path everyday.   How we speak and what we think plays such an important part in our well-being and most of us have no idea how much.   There is an experiment at the end of the book that shows the visual aspects of positive and negative words. Words have power and its time we use them effectively.   I hope to change the world one view, one person, one book at a time and create a better environment for myself, my children and my ancestors to come.   Please join me!
