

The Social Book

As I was studying the tier systems within the venture capital industry, I made my realization through music with Snoop Dogg. I studied and lyrics and exploited the music industry. In that realization, I saw a multi tier system, within the music industry. I listened to Notorious B.I.G. and understood the music genius behind the music in P Diddy. Soon enough, shows like Mr Robot on USA Networks and Silicon Valley on HBO appeared. Their story mimicked me building mytweetmark, as a growth hacker and full stack developer. Growth hacking is the ability to exploit social networks from technology and look for patterns. Music industry is closely tied to the software industry. Social networks are bridging the gap, and everyone is building their social brands. There are monopolies. However, to fix the problem, we have to see it first, from a first hand experience. Pretty soon, our influence together, Snoop Dogg and P Diddy, together with some of the venture capitalists on twitter, @pmarca, Marc Andreessen, founder of Netscape. One of the first internet browsers in the mid 90s that also build web servers. The company was later purchased by AOL. @startupljackson, Dave McClure, founder of 500 Startups is another mentor, who saw, while the social hacking took place, in summer of 2015. The venture capital industry, going through its own set of disruption, similar to music industry in 2015. Due to the Mr Robot show, wall street took a tremble, which was predicted. There was also a shooting in Virginia, mimicking the Finale of Mr Robot. The show moved forward for one week, because the scene needed to be deleted. Soon after, I saw Hillary Clinton, who I admire the most, as the most courageous woman, fighting political campaigns on Twitter. My company and I decided to support Hillary Clinton fully, and start doing growth hacking with her, which she realized immediately. Pretty soon, we were all tweeting in sync together, at different locations, but completely understanding each others meaning. Me being the glue, between the rap artists, Snoop Dogg, P Diddy, and technology venture capitalists, Marc Andreessen and Dave McClure. Hillary Clinton, meanwhile watching all of us, as a mother and a leader. I am grateful for all my teachers, Hillary Clinton, Marc Andreessen, Dave McClure, Snoop Dogg and P Diddy. Thankful for my gurus and soulmate. Without them, I would never have this opportunity, to growth hack social media.
